

Brady Workstation Laboratory Identification Software Suite

This comprehensive software suite is specifically designed to help your lab run more efficiently. Advanced design features allow you to create custom labels that fit the needs of your laboratory. With this collection, you can implement a new identification process that will help eliminate costs and errors and keep things running smoothly in your lab. And with Brady's wide variety of compatible printers, you can take advantage of color printing on lab-durable materials delivered by lab-tested print technologies including full-color inkjet and mono-color thermal heat transfer (THT).

What you can do:

- Design custom labels — Text, barcodes, graphics and shapes
- Create sequences — Numeric or alphabetic sequential text or barcodes
- Import data — Add information from Excel, text files or databases
- Make templates — Locked and editable elements for consistent label creation
- Batch print — Group multiple label files and print all at once
- Manage label parts — Keep track of label parts and supplies
- Print fast — Print Smart Technology enables efficient label setup and stores information
